

Hi, my name is Pablo Sologaistoa and I love where I live.

I'm a Florida native, that came to Lakeland's Southeastern University where I pursued theology and leadership. After college, Lakeland's community, entrepreneurial legacy, and central location encouraged me to stay. Shortly thereafter, I started BOSCH & Co. Today, due to God's grace and an amazing team, BOSCH & Co. has experienced substantial growth.

In 2017, I ran for commissioner in Lakeland. That experience taught me that our community has an impact on our quality of life. I believe that who we are as a community enriches our life and who we decide to be as individuals defines who we are as a community. To this end, I am committed to loving God and loving people. Through philanthropic endeavors, volunteer work, and Grace City Church, I continue to serve our community.

I live my life with eyes wide open, discovering and learning the new, and appreciating and treasuring what is already here. I enjoy listening to music, discovering new places, and having a stimulating conversation over a good cup of coffee.
